

History of the World & Jerusalem: According to the Bible and Islamic traditions (MythoReligio) (Volume 1)

Where do we go after we die? Are we really going to heaven or hell as religion tells us? Is it true that religion does not go along with science? Why are there so many religions? Can any religion be the right one when all religions have caused so many wars on the planet? Why do the three siblings of Abrahamic religion (i.e. Judaism, Christianity and Islam) constantly being in a state of conflict? Why do followers of these three religions fight for dominion of Jerusalem? What are their religious teachings actually telling about this so-called Promised Land? In the first book of this MythoReligio series author Indy Jane compiled stories directly from the Old Testament, New Testament and Islamic traditions in order to answer the above questions. From these stories readers will be able to see what Jews, Christians and Muslims are taught concerning the creation and the end of the world, as well as learning about the background story of one of the most conflicted regions in the world Jerusalem. These data are available for everyone to read directly from the scriptures or search easily and freely all over the Internet. However, although many are familiar with bits and pieces of these stories when compiled together one might be surprised realizing how the details of these stories are actually not widely known at all. These are details that are shockingly unfair, illogical and downright brutal. In this first book, the author is not sharing many of her thoughts yet, as at this point she is merely sharing the stories in simple language using many images and charts to follow the storyline easily. Further, in the next books of this series she continues with stories from other religions, world mythologies and finally compares them with modern science. The result of this comparison study is truly shocking and may alter history as we know today.
